

Molins Tobacco Machinery is now just Molins

Molins Tobacco Machinery and its owner, Molins PLC, have constantly sought over the years to deliver world leading products and services to you as a customer and now an amalgamation of the Molins companies of Langen Group, Cerulean, MTM and Molins Technologies into a single company is just the next chapter in this story.

Molins have utilized the combination of the extensive technical capabilities and skills of its' four businesses to create one global customer solutions provider, with an extensive global network of engineers providing local maintenance and support.

Molins has been your partner in the tobacco industry for more than 50 years and is a familiar name worldwide when a customer needs robust efficient equipment. The bringing together of the elements of the Molins Group to form a single company, makes Molins machinery your first choice company for make-pack-test-sustain solutions.

From high-speed automation, through to precision instrumentation, Molins can call upon technical specialists to innovate, design and deliver to our customers' ever-changing needs.

With the cross-industry knowledge of Langen Group, Molins Technologies, Molins Machinery and Cerulean, Molins has the skills and experience to be the first-choice company for make-pack-test-sustain solutions in the Pharmaceutical, Healthcare, Food & Beverage and Nicotine delivery industries - from first-of-a-kind innovation, through to proven industry standard machinery and long term collaborative support.

The Molins group has a presence on every continent of the world allowing delivery of global solutions with truly local lifetime support. Molins branded equipment can now offer a wide range of product and services for the tobacco and new tobacco industries from first of kind through to long term serial manufacture.

Your personal contact for Molins Tobacco Machinery remain unchanged but now our sales and service team can call on a greater pool of dedicated engineering and support services world-wide to more effectively service your needs. The legal entity for contracts remains unchanged.

Visit www.molins.com for a tour of the Molins brands and capabilities.

© Copyright Molins PLC. All rights reserved. This document is the property and copyright of Molins PLC and must not be passed on, copied or used for any purpose without the written permission of Molins PLC registered in England No. 124855. Registered office: Rockingham Drive, Linford Wood East, Milton Keynes MK14 6LY

